About World Migratory Bird Day 2023

WMBD is an annual awareness-raising campaign highlighting the need for the conservation of migratory birds and their habitats. It has a global outreach and is an effective tool to help raise global awareness of the threats faced by migratory birds, their ecological importance, and the need for international cooperation to conserve them. In 2018, WMBD unified the planet's major migratory bird corridors, or flyways: the African-Eurasian flyway, the East Asian-Australasian flyway, and the Americas flyways. WMBD is now celebrated twice a year, on the Second Saturday in May and in October. In 2023, WMBD will be held on 13 May and 14 October. This year, the theme is "Water: Sustaining Bird Life". The EAAFP Secretariat encourages Partners to celebrate WMBD twice a year.

Introduction of EAAFP WMBD 2023 Small Grant

Event objectives and plan (max. 500 words):

In the heart of the Gulf of Mottama (GoM) lies a vital Ramsar Site, designated in 2017 and recognized as one of Myanmar's six pivotal flyway network sites. This ecologically significant area stands as a sanctuary for a rich array of marine life and a temporary home to over 150,000 migratory waterbirds during their non-breeding season. Among these avian travelers are 12 globally threatened species, including the Critically Endangered Spoon-billed Sandpipers, additionally, the GoM supports numerous livelihoods by providing fish to local communities for sustenance and trade.

Active community participation is essential for the long-term conservation of the Gulf of Mottama's wetlands and its dependent species. Years of initiatives by NCS - Myanmar, including Local Conservation Groups (LCGs), informative talks, and the installation of educational signboards, have cultivated a shared sense of responsibility. Crucially, educating the younger generation is paramount. By imparting knowledge about conservation during their school years, we empower them to become future stewards for conservation. Equipped with this awareness, they will champion lasting conservation efforts, securing the wetlands and species for posterity.

In celebration of the second 2023 World Migratory Bird Day, the Nature Conservation Society -Myanmar will host an engaging event. This event will include an educational talk for local children and community members residing near the Gulf of Mottama. Visual presentations will cover the themes of WMBDwetlands ecosystems, and the importance of migratory bird conservation, accompanied by a Burmese song and a documentary showcasing the significance of this region. Photos of threatened migratory birds from the region will be exhibited. A quiz will offer crystal trophies with bird images to the winners, fostering knowledge and enthusiasm. The event will also extend invitations to LCG members and local residentsin that way enhancing conservation awareness within the community. As for appreciation, tote bags with 2023 WMBD poster will be provided to the attendees, further reinforcing the message of conservation These bags are not just useful; they also show our dedication to protecting this important Ramsar Site.
